In Unity is a collaborative new podcast created by the Committee for Campus Inclusion and the National Pan-Hellenic Council. It leads to inspire change in others.

Championship Life: Alonzo "AJ" Jones sits down with his son, Ahlias Jones, in front of the Student Pavilion on ASU’s Tempe campus. The two discuss the impact of making education accessible to all, celebrating Black culture, and the skill and discipline it takes to be a leader.

As the current president of the Black African Coalition, vice president of the new chapter of Alpha African Incorporated, president of the National Pan-Hellenic Council, and vice president of Black Education, Mentors and Club, Ahlias is a secondary education major who is already making a difference in the community.

In honor of Black History Month, the university celebrates rich culture and history through numerous programs and opportunities to engage with one another and the communities we serve — as outlined in our commitment to all backgrounds, identities and perspectives; supported by practice of diversity, equity and inclusion.

To support our dynamic enterprise-wide ecosystem furthering our legacy as an inclusive workplace, ASU Enterprize recognized ASU ahead of MIT and Stanford — the first Black head coach in program history — as an Enterprise in Practice.

In the spirit of the Arizona State University Charter, our leaders, influencers, and programs are inspired to work together to ensure that diversity, equity, and inclusion are a driving and unifying force in the practice of diversity, equity, and inclusion.

In Unity is a collaborative new podcast created by the Committee for Campus Inclusion and the National Pan-Hellenic Council. It leads to inspire change in others.

Championship Life: Alonzo "AJ" Jones sits down with his son, Ahlias Jones, in front of the Student Pavilion on ASU’s Tempe campus. The two discuss the impact of making education accessible to all, celebrating Black culture, and the skill and discipline it takes to be a leader.

As the current president of the Black African Coalition, vice president of the new chapter of Alpha African Incorporated, president of the National Pan-Hellenic Council, and vice president of Black Education, Mentors and Club, Ahlias is a secondary education major who is already making a difference in the community.

In honor of Black History Month, the university celebrates rich culture and history through numerous programs and opportunities to engage with one another and the communities we serve — as outlined in our commitment to all backgrounds, identities and perspectives; supported by practice of diversity, equity and inclusion.

To support our dynamic enterprise-wide ecosystem furthering our legacy as an inclusive workplace, ASU Enterprize recognized ASU ahead of MIT and Stanford — the first Black head coach in program history — as an Enterprise in Practice.