A gallery exhibition of Native veteran prints will feature dancers, drummers, elders and families. A Pow Wow, the traditional gathering, will be held on Veterans Day Weekend. The centerpiece of the event is the Festival featuring the 20th Annual Veterans Salute to Service. Celebrate U.S. veterans at the Heritage Foundation and Visit an exhibition of prints by Native veterans on Wednesday, Nov. 8, at Northlight Gallery’s exhibition, Seral Bodies, Noon–5 p.m. Photographe

---

The Arizona Board of Regents is excited to announce that Arizona State University has been recognized as a 2023 Fulbright HSI Leader by the U.S. Department of State. This recognition is in recognition of ASU’s commitment to providing educational opportunities and support to first-generation Hispanic and Latino students.

ASU is home to more than 30,000 Hispanic and Latino students, which represents more than 34% of the university’s total undergraduate student population. ASU is proud to be a leader in higher education and committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars.

ASU has a long-standing commitment to diversity and inclusion, and we are committed to providing opportunities for students of all backgrounds to succeed. We are proud to be a leader in higher education and committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars.

Later this month, ASU will celebrate Salute to Service, a time to honor those who serve our country. We are proud to be home to more than 16,000 military-connected learners, as well as the military veterans among our faculty and staff, for our service to our country. We are proud to be home to more than 16,000 military-connected learners, as well as the military veterans among our faculty and staff, for our service to our country.

As we enter November, let us reflect on the significance of Native American Heritage Month, a time to celebrate the contributions, and promising futures of Native American, Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian communities. This legacy requires an ongoing service to our country. We are proud to be home to more than 16,000 military-connected learners, as well as the military veterans among our faculty and staff, for our service to our country.

As a university that measures ourself by whom we include and how they succeed, ASU is committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars. We are proud to be a leader in higher education and committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars.

---

We are first-generation proud!}

---

28,701 4,393 34%

---

---

Freeport-McMoRan Foundation, has been empowering Native American women entrepreneurs since 2015, the Thunderbird School of Global Management, in partnership with the Native Artists Resource Group, made possible by the Arizona Department of Native Artists Resource Group, made possible by the Arizona Department of Education.

---

A celebration of the contributions of American Indian, Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian communities.

---

ASU is a top-producing institution for Fulbright students and faculty scholars, one of only nine programs, the U.S. government’s flagship international academic exchange program. ASU is proud to be a leader in higher education and committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars.

---

ASU is proud to be a leader in higher education and committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars. We are proud to be a leader in higher education and committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars.

---

Visit an exhibition of prints by Native veterans on Wednesday, Nov. 8, at Northlight Gallery’s exhibition, Seral Bodies, Noon–5 p.m. Photographe

---

ASU is committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars. We are proud to be a leader in higher education and committed to providing opportunities to Indigenous students and scholars.

---

We are first-generation proud!