From its founding in 2014, the Faculty Women of Color Caucus empower and advocate for faculty women of color as valued, contributing members of the ASU community. From its founding, the Faculty Women of Color Caucus has sought to enact inclusion across the university’s campuses, the diversity of faculty women of color in terms of discipline, rank, and appointment, and to promote inclusion across the campus community. The FWOCC Newsletter highlights and promotes the work of the caucus.

MESSAGE FROM THE 2018-2019 PRESIDENT

As the Spring semester comes to a close, I'm reflecting on the privilege it has been to serve FWOCC. This energizing force of dynamic and innovative scholars has been inspiring and grounding. So, of course, let us share and honor this! This inaugural newsletter highlights some of our outstanding work as faculty women of color which robustly enhances our intellectual and inclusivity discourse across the university's many levels and layers. It is with humble appreciation and admiration that I welcome you to explore and widely share the immense contributions of your peers. – Liza Hita

Raffle Winners at the FWOCC Fall Welcome 2018.
Presentations

30. Ore, Ersula. Vice President Spotlight Session & Scholar Spotlight Session at the

Publications

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT ELECT

ASUs FWOCC is dedicated to supporting the community work, scholarship, and mentorship work of faculty women of color. This newsletter seeks to highlight the contributions of faculty women of color at ASU, by recognizing both their seen and unseen labor. As President-Elect, it has been my privilege to assist FWOCC in this mission, and as forthcoming President I look forward to designing programming that facilitates institutional literacies that assists the ways FWoC must negotiate the university. – Ersula Ore

Ore’s current work examines how women enact citizenship through discourses that both highlight and challenge the gendered, raced, and classed construction of civility.

Stitching done by Professor Leslie Harris, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.
UPCOMING FWOCC MEMBER PUBLICATIONS & PRESENTATIONS

Publications

11. Li, Wei. Sage Handbook of International Migration (Christine Inglis, editor-in-chief, Wei Li and Binod Khadria, co-editors) Sage [projected]

Presentations

3. Anokye, Akua Duku. “The Goddess Figure as Community Mother in Africana Literature and Culture: An African Archetype.”

4. Bhattacharjya, Nilanjan. “Qawwalis in Films as a Space for Building Communities and Envisioning Peace.” Religious Values, Everyday Ethics and Peace Conference scheduled in May at USTM, Meghalaya, India

Awards

1. Anokye, Akua Duku. Named the Chief Reader Designate for Advanced Placement English Language and Composition.
2. Bramlett-Solomon, Sharon. Crain’s “News Pro” magazine named Prof. Sharon Bramlett-Solomon a Top-10 U.S. Journalism Educator as nominated by top rank journalism industry members.
3. Camacho, Erika. ASU Founder’s Day Faculty Service Achievement Award.
7. Lim, Julian. Winner, 2019 Book Award for Outstanding Achievement in History, Association for Asian American Studies.

FACULTY WOMEN OF COLOR MEETUP:

Concerns on Hostile Classrooms

5-730pm | Tuesday, April 23, 2019
Landmark Towers | 4750 N Central Ave PHX 85012
Parking available on Pierson & 1st Avenues

Let's take this time to contemplate and strategize together on how to combat white supremacy in the classroom.